Report:

The aim of the alumni interaction talk on balancing education with extracurricular and co-curricular activities was to help students excel in both by managing their time effectively.

The talk, delivered efficiently and smoothly by Ms. Shrayashree, focused on managing extracurricular and co-curricular activities alongside academic responsibilities. She shared her experience of balancing volleyball, dedicating time to art, running a small jewelry business, and striving for academic excellence. Ms. Shrayashree emphasized that by prioritizing tasks, creating a consistent schedule, and maintaining discipline, she was able to participate actively in these activities while improving her academic performance each semester. She concluded by stating that her focus and time management skills eventually led her to top her class, demonstrating that with determination and organization, it is possible to excel in multiple areas simultaneously.
